BUCKS COUNTY SCHOOL BOARDS REQUEST, DURING PAST FOUR MONTHS, SIX BUILDINGS COSTING $5,293,000

Total Estimated Cost of Buildings Exceeds Present Valuation of All School Buildings in Bucks County—County Board Has Given Its Approval

Bucks County Public School Boards requested, during the last four months, that the State Public School Building Authority erect six buildings costing $5,293,000. It is a surprise that the total estimated cost of these buildings exceeds the present valuation of all school buildings in Bucks County by a little over $500,000. These requests have been approved by the County Board of School Directors. The requests to the State Authority include three high school buildings and three elementary school buildings.

The new high schools included are for the Central Bucks, Pennsbury, and Palisades districts.

Before county and state approval were received the financial ability and fiscal policies of every school board concerned with those projects was carefully scrutinized by the county and state officials. In each case the ability to pay for the buildings was amply demonstrated and in each there was no evidence of a possibility of over extension of the board's financial condition.

Each project was checked against the county plan of reorganized districts in order that none of the projects would be inconsistent with future high school attendance areas. The size of each building is dependent upon the number of school children in the approved high school attendance area. No school board has been permitted to erect classrooms in anticipation of future housing developments.

As soon as the State Authority is activated, the plans of at least four buildings are ready to be submitted for public bids. The State Public School Building Authority will erect the buildings in accordance with the plans prepared by the school board. The Authority will hold the title to the building until the total rentals paid amortize the cost of the building. The state will reimburse the Bucks County School District each year, one-half of their reimbursement fraction. This means that the extent of state aid will vary with each district beginning at 12% and going up as high as 41%. At least two school buildings, an elementary building for Warrington Township and an elementary building for Lower Southampton Township, have been placed on the list for the first hundred buildings to be erected by the State Authority.

Pennies of Kiddies Aid "Welcome House" Folks

DUBLIN, Jan. 14 — For benefit of the newly-organized "Welcome-House," here, children of Bucks County schools have provided much benefit, also joy for those living there — all through penny donations.

"Pretzel pennies," or those which otherwise would have been used to buy bubble gum or lollypops, were placed in piggy banks in the home rooms of schools on a penny-per-pupil basis. The funds were turned over to "Welcome House."

At Christmastime, too, the youngsters and others, it has been reported by the sponsoring committee of the home, simply deluged the tiny Asian-American tots with so many gifts that Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Yoder, their foster parents, spent hours unwrapping the Santa parcels.

Not only the children, but the older folks also added to the welfare of the "Welcome House" kidlets. Many of the celebrated-in-name sent checks for the project, signed by such prominent "Whose Whoers" as Moss Hart, Sigmund Romberg, Richard Halliday, Richard Rogers, John Steinbeck, Robert Sherwood and many others. A number who had promised $50 sent $200. In fact, the committee reports, due to these financial developments, it will now be possible to make arrangements to reduce the mortgage from $17,500 to $16,000 at the time of the annual renewal in March, with the hope that in the not-too-far-away future, "Welcome House" will not only be free of debt, but fully endowed.

The sponsoring committee has also applied for membership in the Child Welfare League of America.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

A remarkable coincidence brought into the home of a Doylestown woman for a few days this week, the son of a German family she had been assisting for several years.

Three years ago, Mrs. Edward O. Steely, sent bundles of clothing and food to numerous European countries. Her name was enclosed and those who thanked her from Germany were a minister, his wife and six children. Now, the next-to-eldest son of that family, Gottfried Einwachter, 25, has won a year's scholarship to Harvard. It seems nothing short of wonderful to the county seat matron that he should be the one of those who were chosen.

The scholarship, Gottfried explained, is part of the re-orientation plan put on by the U. S. military government. Living in the small town of Berghausen, near Karlsruh, in the now combined state of the former duchies of Wuerttenberg-Baden, he said he had answered an ad in the newspaper "just for fun."

SEVERAL CASES ENDED IN COURT

Verdict For $480.11 Awarded In One of The Cases Which Were Heard

SOME OTHER CASES

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 14 — A jury before Judge William F. Dannehower returned a verdict of $480.11 in favor of the plaintiff, Lawrence Lindquist, Township Line, Willow Grove, and against Leah Agnes Steacker, 129 National ave., Langhorne, and Steacker Landscape Contracting Co., but not against her son, Louis Steacker, Davisville.

A counter-claim in which Louis Steacker was suing for $1725 was dismissed, and the Court directed that a verdict be returned in favor of the son, Louis Steacker, as an agent.

The trial grew out of the removal of 2.82 acres of sod from the plaintiff's farm September 15, 1947, by the defendant.

The plaintiff, who was suing for $423 plus interest, sold the sod at $150 an acre. He terminated his oral contract with the defendant October 15. The plaintiff was suing for payment of the sod.

Before Judge Edward G. Biester a jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant, Orrin P. Sharp, Kintersville, and against the plaintiff, Jacob Hager, Bedminster. The case grew out of a truck-car accident, June 16, 1948, near Ferndale, and the plaintiff was suing for $310 damages.

BRISTOL MAN GIVEN VERDICT AGAINST ANOTHER IN THE SUM OF $8,989.35 AS RESULT OF SHOOTING AFFAIR HERE

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 14 — In the suit of Lonnie Lee Bragg, 26, of 1030 Trenton avenue, Bristol, against Cornelius S. Hines, of Wood and Market streets, Bristol, the jury last evening returned a verdict of $8,989.35 against Hines. The jury retired to deliberate at 4.30 yesterday afternoon and brought in the verdict at 7.30.

The award was broken down as follows: $7089.35 compensation and $1900 punitive damages.

Hines was fined on September 19, 1947 to pay $250 fine and to serve from six to 23 months in jail for the shooting affair which brought about the suit. He was paroled April 6, 1949 and at that time is reported to have paid fines and costs totaling $600.

Bragg, suing Cornelius S. Hines, also of Bristol, following a shooting over the use of an alley in Bristol, April 28, 1947, was described in civil court by Dr. Fletcher D. Sain, Abington Hospital surgeon, as a "museum of pathology."

The husky plaintiff, who had three shots fired at him by the defendant, had two bullet wounds in the liver, two holes in the stomach, seven or eight in the intestines, a bullet in the pelvis and one still imbedded in his right foot.

Dr. Sain, who said the plaintiff was in the operating room nearly two hours and that they didn't think he would live through the operation, testified that he now has a hernia, which will require an abdominal operation and a bullet still in his right foot.

An Abington Hospital bill of $2,765.35, and a surgeon's bill for $300 were offered by the plaintiff's counsel.

Dr. Sain, who was asked by the defense counsel, Webster S. Achey, whether the plaintiff wasn't a "surgeon's dream," quickly replied, "He was a museum of pathology."

Following the major abdominal operations, the patient developed an abscess from the bullet lodged in the pelvis. Although hospital X-ray technicians were unable to see the TB germs under the microscope, the "pus" from the abscess, injected into guinea pigs, killed it and the surgeon's diagnosis of a TB infection was acknowledged. The plaintiff's incision for this operation ran from his spine to the center of his abdomen.

Dr. H. Doyle Webb produced a physician's bill of $124.

The plaintiff, Bragg, who was a blast furnace worker, was shot after an argument with the defendant concerning the use of an alley at 310 Market street, Bristol.

The plaintiff was chased by the defendant from 310 Market street to the Municipal Building, where Advanced elementary accounting will be one of the many courses making up the evening class program at the Penn State Class Center in Bristol for which new students will be enrolled this spring term, according to Alfred E. Lewis, administrative head.

The course will cover accounting problems peculiar to partnerships, corporations and manufacturing businesses. General features of manufacturing accounting will also be covered.

Mr. Lewis said today that interested students who have studied elementary principles of accounting upon completion of high school or its equivalent would be eligible for the course.

Other courses open to registrants during the spring term are building quantity surveys and cost estimating, the history of Pennsylvania, industrial relations, technical writing and speaking, effective speech, general psychology and credits and collections.

BRISTOL TERRACE II MAN FATALLY BURNED IN EXPLOSION AT BRISTOL STEEL TREATING COMPANY PLANT HERE

Gruesome Discovery Made by A Friend Who Went To Visit Him at Plant at 11 o'Clock Last Night — Body of Howard Welker Found on Ground Outside — Clothing Scattered.

A man died of burns sustained at his employment here last evening. Howard F. Welker, 29, 702 Court D, Bristol Terrace II, Bristol Township, was found dead, lying on the ground about 150 feet outside of the plant of Bristol Steel Treating Co., Pine Grove street. The gruesome discovery was made by Robert Prescott, 1251 Pine Grove street, at about 11 o'clock. Prescott, also connected with the plant, walked from his home nearby to visit with Welker.

Welker, employed alone on the 4 to 12 shift, was engaged in treating small steel gadgets. He was dipping them, by means of a porous metal basket, into a solution of acid.

William Betson, one of the partners of the firm, who lives in Philadelphia, in describing the process, said that he believed Welker used a metal basket which might have had a particle of a solution from another vat on it. He believes that when this basket touched the other solution there was an explosion. The walls and vent pipe of the vat were splattered with a brittle crust, it being the hardened solution.

The acids in the vats are heated to a temperature of 1600 degrees, and it is presumed that Welker, standing in front of the vat with the metal basket on an iron poker, caught the full force of the explosion and terrific heat as it flared against him. The metal basket was found in the bottom of the vat. It was a cyanide solution which was being used.

Welker, judging from conditions found about the place, ran from the building, ripping off his clothing as he went. Some of his outer pieces of clothing were found on the ground near the door of the plant. Welker's body was lying on the ground along a wire fence. His face, wrists and ankles were terribly burned, and it is believed that he must have inhaled a lot of the heat and been burned internally.

Welker was married three weeks ago and his bride walked about in

U. S. ORDERS ITS OFFICIAL PERSONNEL OUT OF RED CHINA

Washington—The United States ordered all its official personnel out of Communist China today in angry protest against the Reds seizure of American consular properties in Peiping. The action was described as wholly unprecedented by Assistant Secretary of State Walton Butterworth, in charge of Far Eastern affairs. He declared that the Communists' seizure of the consular property was "more like tribal law than international law."

One hundred thirty-five American officials, including dependents, are involved in the order.

Consular establishments at Peiping, Tientsin, Shanghai, Tsingtao and Nanking will be affected. These are the only official U. S. establishments in China. In announcing the move the State Department said that the same accommodations offered official personnel will be made available to private American citizens who wish to leave China.

The announcement said that at 3.30 p. m. local time, yesterday, the Consul General at Peiping, O. Edmund Clubb, received an oral communication from the local military control commission that a requisition order, taking over the consular property would be put into effect at 9 a. m. local time, the following day. Clubb informed the Communist representative that if the order were carried out "it would be at the full responsibility of those concerned and against U. S. Government's official protests."

He followed this up with a formal letter to the same effect.

However, at 9.50 a. m., local time, today, police and four civilian officials invaded the consulate. Butterworth reported that all official papers at the consulate have either been destroyed or are in the possession of U. S. officials.

He said that "to date" communicactions between Washington and Peiping have not been interrupted.

VAST CHANGES AHEAD

Now that human progress during the first half—or the first 49 years, depending on the viewpoint—of the twentieth century has been indexed and put away in history files, scientists and others contemplate advances to be made during the next 50 years. From these predictions it may be possible to visualize the manner of life at the dawning of the next century.

Forecasts for the next 50 years have been made by nine U. S. leaders in fields ranging from science to entertainment. Advances, they predict, will be more amazing than those made during the remarkable half-century just ended.

Human beings will live longer than ever before and be healthier individuals. They will imitate a popular comic strip character and wear wrist watch radios and carry a television set in their pockets. Sun rays will be harnessed for energy and heat.

Food will be created in factories instead of grown in the soil. Fresh water will come from the sea. Through the wonders of radio man will speak man-to-man to others far away. Television will keep him in constant touch with the far places of the earth. Travel by air will be improved to the point of absolute safety.

Cancer and heart disease will be controlled. The whole system of education will be revised and improved to the point that every person will have the equivalent of a college education. Presumably, man will become wiser and nations will learn to live in peace with their neighbors because they have learned the futility of war.

Vast changes are promised as a result of which man's lot will be improved and the world made a better place in which to live.

BUGHOUSE

It is held by cynics that the world is going bughouse. There is substantiation for the theory.

First, the world set out to eliminate war, an ancient luxury which has become horrible and which the world obviously can no longer afford. The first stab at ending war found only some of the nations cooperating. Now all except Germany and Japan have enlisted, and what is the result? Two sets of nations squaring off for another big war.

In the past half century rebels in many nations have succeeded in ousting special privilege kings in favor of "democracies" for, by and of the people. Now most of them are drifting back to the total state, with the people ground down by despotic rulers.

Officials in this country have belabored the high cost of living. How do they meet the problem? By taxing the people heavily and by cheapening the currency so that prices will go still higher.

The holidays are over, but the young fry is consoled by the fact there is again something in the funnies besides holiday greetings.

vows in the presence of the Rev. Fr. Gatens. The bride chose for the 11 o'clock ceremony a gown of white slipper satin, entrain, featuring bead trim, net yoke, and having long sleeves. Slippers, too, were of satin; and an orange blossom headpiece held a net veil of finger-tip length. Entering the edifice she carried a lavendar orchid on a prayer book; and exchanged this at the altar for an arm bouquet of white roses to be carried in the recessional.

Her sole attendant, Miss Theresa O'Neill, Emilie road, sister of the bridegroom, was also gowned in slipper satin, the floor-length model being of poudre blue. The costume was patterned with a bustle and made off-shoulder effect. Long, satin, detachable sleeves and blue satin slippers were worn. Miss O'Neill's tiara was of blue satin, this having a matching veil. Her arm bouquet was composed of pink rose-buds.

Mr. James O'Neill, Emilie road, was best man for his brother.

Covers were arranged for members of the Briar and O'Neill families, for a dinner in the Stacy-Trent Hotel, Trenton, N. J., scheduled to follow the ceremony.

When the newlyweds leave for a motor trip to Florida, Mrs. O'Neill will be costumed in a blue silk print dress, fur-trimmed gray coat, white hat and gloves, black slippers, and will wear a lavendar orchid. The two will reside on Emilie road.

Choice of Mrs. Briar, mother of the bride, to wear to the ceremony was a black dress with trim in pink tone, black accessories, and a pink carnation corsage. Mrs. O'Neill, mother of the bridegroom, selected a black silk print dress, white gloves, other accessories in black, and a pink rose-bud corsage.

Several Cases Ended In Court

a $1,000 settlement in favor of the plaintiff, William M. Zeiner, Phoenixville, and against Tank Truck Rentals, Inc., and Carl DeHaven, Lancaster. The car-truck accident happened at the Reading Railroad bridge in Sellersville.

The case was tried once before resulting in a "hung jury" which was out until midnight at that time in October. Settlement was agreed by counsel on both sides rather than have the case stand trial again.

Judge Edward G. Biester is presiding at the trial of Russell S. Hahn, 740 Fairview st., Bethlehem, who is suing O. S. Keeler, Perkasie, RD 2, following a two-car accident in Perkasie, June 16, 1946.

The first witness for the plaintiff was Ralph Elwood Hahn, who was driving his father's car when the accident happened.

The four occupants in the plaintiff's car were hurled out of the car by the impact with the defendent's car.

"I landed in a potato patch," said the driver. Hahn who explained the car went up the street by itself until it stopped. The accident happened at 7th and Callowhill streets, Perkasie, and the driver admitted they were trying to find Willow Grove Park, but couldn't get on the right road so they decided to visit Menlo Park instead.

The jury is composed of Louis W. Stackhouse, Andalusia; William Schaal, Morrisville, RD; Edith P. King, Tullytown; Jacob Bauer, Failsington; Howard Friel, Bristol; Edward Rice, Pipersville; Marvin G. Davis, Falls; Louis White, Ottsville; Laura Haimbach, Langhorne; Elizabeth Brown, Bristol; Howard H. Antrobus, New Hope, and Francis Bahelka, Yardley.

a trance at the spot where her husband had met his death.

Details learned in an effort to fix the time of the tragedy, were related by Prescott. He said that he visited the plant at about nine o'clock and could not find Welker anywhere. He finally concluded that he had gone home, perhaps for some lunch. Prescott returned at 11 o'clock and it was then that he found Welker's body. Prescott telephoned Betson who rushed to Bristol and tried to piece together the evidence which might give a more complete account of how the accident occurred and when.

It was learned early this morning as Mrs. Welker went to see where her husband had died, that Welker's brother, Albert, had visited him at about seven o'clock last evening and had gotten the dead man's paycheck cashed for him and returned with the money. Albert says he had heard an explosion as he left but that he did not return to investigate, as Howard had told him explosions occurred at the plant quite frequently.

The police and Bucks County Coroner J. Alfred Rigby are investigating. The body was removed to the Molden morgue.

The Welkers were married three weeks ago today, December 24th. Mrs. Welker, the former Margaret Marie Murray, of Philadelphia, had moved to the Bristol Terrace address last Sunday. Mr. Welker, who made his home at 575 Otter street before his marriage, was the son of Mrs. Florence Nace, Otter street. Other survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Harry Newton, Lafayette street, and Mrs. Wilbur Kline, of Virginia; two brothers, Albert and Herman Welker, of Bristol; and two step-brothers.

Welker had been employed at the plant for the past several weeks. During World War II he served overseas with the U. S. Army. He was a member of Bristol Fire Co., No. 1.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. S. B. Brown
Pastor
Bethel A. M. E. Church

Be with Thy Church, O God, in its service to man and its worship of Thee. May we give more of time and talent to make it effective in this world of need. Teach the lesson that blessedness comes to the extent of our giving, and happiness to the measure of our serving. Should our greatest gift be small and our best efforts inadequate, grant us Thy blessing to meet every need. Through Jesus, Amen.

Bristol Man Given $8,989 Verdict Against Another

the plaintiff, with blood streaming from his wounds, collapsed after telling Officer Alonzo VanSant, "Hines shot me."

The defendant, who was constructing some building in the rear of the properties at 310 Market street, was making a lumber delivery when the altercation between the plaintiff's two brothers and the defendant began.

The plaintiff claims $5,304 damages for the loss of wages since he is no longer able to do heavy work. His present wage is $14 lower than his blast furnace job pay.

Elijah Bragg, a brother of the plaintiff, testified the defendant fired three times, one shot hitting him in the knee.

Richard W. Hoes, who was employed by the defendant as a plumber, testified he saw the defendant with a pistol, first fire towards Elijah, and then shoot at Lonnie, the plaintiff.

Robert Clark, Jr., Wood and Market streets, heard the shots.

Officer Alonzo VanSant, Bristol policeman, said he took a 32 Colt automatic from the defendant at the police station. Frances E. Tait, bookkeeper for the concern, where the plaintiff was employed, testified that in 11 weeks he earned $403.24.

PINDAR AND RICH PACE HIGH SCHOOL TO BEAT U. MARION

BRIDGEPORT, Jan. 14 — Bristol High won its fifth game of the season, last night, as it downed Upper Merion High, 48-34. It was the latter's fourth loss of the season. It has won seven games.

Paced by Joe Pindar and Frank Rich, and wonderful defensive playing on the parts of Frank Barbetta and Marty Braam, Bristol had the lead from the start and remained in front the entire 32 minutes of play.

Coach Jerry Bloom's proteges made a whirlwind start as they looped in field and foul goals to amass an early 10-1 lead. The only point scored by Upper Merion during this stretch was a foul by "Mike" Ramsey. For Bristol, Pindar put in a pair of fielders and Cauti and Rich had one each with Rich and "Howie" Grant getting foul points. However, before the first session was over, Upper Merion cut the lead to three points on fielders by Dudas, Ramsey and Murphy.
